For personal assistance, contact Destination Door County toll-free at 800-527-3529 or via email, info@doorcounty.com. You can also reach out to us on multiple social channels.

> You can find more trip ideas and pick up a free wayfinding map of the county at any of our Welcome Centers.

> > See page 9 for locations.

Cherryland Airport in Sturgeon Bay offers air charter services through MaxAir, Inc. The nearest commercial airport is Austin Straubel International Airport (GRB) in Green Bay, which offers service from American, Delta, Frontier and United airlines. Visit DoorCounty.com under Discover for more airport and ground transportation information.

FERRY

From the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, take the shortcut across the lake from Ludington, MI to Manitowoc, WI on the S.S. Badger car ferry for passengers, autos, motorcycles and RVs. Once in Manitowoc, head north on I-43 or Hwy 42 towards Door County.

BOAT

Traveling by boat? Please visit www.DoorCounty.com For more information on Marinas and Boat Launches.

CAR

From Chicago by Car:

Take I-94 to Milwaukee, then I-43 towards Green Bay. Then choose from two alternate routes to Door County: #1: Take I-43 north to Green Bay, then Hwy 57 North to Door County.

- or -

#2: Take I-43 north to the Hwy 310 exit near Two Rivers and head east to Hwy 42 and follow 42 North to Algoma. From Algoma you can opt to take County Road S north to Door County or remain on Hwy 42 to Door County.

From Minnesota & Twin Cities by Car:

Take I-94 to Hwy 29 (just east of Menomonie, WI); Hwy 29 will take you to Green Bay. When arriving in Green Bay, take I-41 north briefly, then take I-43 South to Hwy 57; exit onto Hwy 57 North to Door County (follow Sturgeon Bay signs).

Door County is a region in "the left thumb" of Wisconsin, USA - the small land mass projecting into the water from the east-central side of the state. The county is about a 2.5-hour drive northeast from Milwaukee and a 4.5-hour drive north from Chicago or east from Minneapolis.

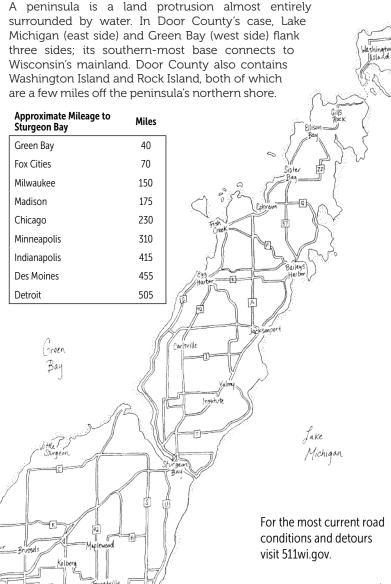

Like many relatively rural areas, Door County lacks public transportation, and its towns are spread out enough that driving between them is a must. So, although you will definitely need a car to get around, the streets and highways will be pleasantly devoid of buses, high-speed trains, and taxis.

The short answer is ... you don't! Door County is composed of 2000+ square miles and more than 19 distinct communities, so your best bet is researching individual towns, choosing 1-3 near each other that suit your getaway style and tastes, and exploring this pocket and its surrounding areas.

TRAVEL LIKE A LOCAL

PACKING

Dressing in easily removable layers can ensure you're always comfortableadding or removing them temperatures change. Because we are completely surrounded by water temperatures can shift quickly. Here are some basics to keep in mind while packing.

- WINTER: Warm water-resistant coat or parka, hat, gloves, long underwear, snow pants and water-resistant boots.
- SPRING/AUTUMN: T-shirts, rain jacket, fleece jacket, jeans and shorts.
- SUMMER: Light jacket, shorts, jeans, hiking pants, swimsuit and warm clothing while out on the boat or soaking up a sunset.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

Door County does not currently have mass transit availability but you will find pre-arranged offerings. We are starting to see a rise in ride-sharing throughout the county but they may not always be available.

RULES OF THE ROAD

Don't let the scenery and wildlife distract you from driving safely. Be aware, especially of wildlife on roadways. Look behind you on two-lane roads and pull over if you have multiple cars behind you. Share the road with bicyclists that may not have a designated bike path. Stop and take photos but pull off to the side first. Yield to pedestrians in walkways. And always, stay cognizant of road conditions and drive with care.

If you are traveling by electric vehicle or a hybrid plug-in you will find over 30 charging stations at various public and private businesses throughout Door County. See page 160 for locations.

CELL PHONE COVERAGE

Our geographic location can cause cell phone coverage to sometimes be a bit spotty. Before you head out on the trails let others know where you are and finish posting your pics before you head off the grid.

DOOR COUNTY WEATHER

Wisconsin has four distinct seasons that more or less create the conditions you'd expect in this part of the country. Something many people don't realize is that due to our 300 miles of shoreline the lake keeps us just a bit cooler in the summer and a tad warmer in the winter compared to other Midwest destinations. We won't pretend that winters can't be brutally cold or that summers can't be extremely hot. They very much can, but those beautiful extremes also result in 3-4 months of perfect beach weather and 2-3 months of stupendously gorgeous winter landscapes.

On average, there are 187 sunny days per year in Door County.

Door County averages 48 inches of snow per year.

July's high is around 78° while January's low is 19º

Door County gets 31 inches of rain on average per year.

The U.S. average is 38"

WHEN TO VISIT

Each season brings its own variety of experiences. From mid-June to early September you will find the county at its fullest. Reservations are always encouraged and you may encounter minimum night stays during festival weekends.

If crowds aren't your thing, or you want to see what it's like when the pace is a bit slower, we invite you back in the spring when the cherry blossoms are in full bloom, fall when the leaves make our bluffs pop with color, or winter when the trails are groomed and the fireplaces are always burning.

People Meter: Know before you go!

GRANTED WE'RE BIASED. WE THINK ANYTIME IS A GOOD TIME TO VISIT DOOR COUNTY!

Certain times of the year draw different amounts of people. If crowds aren't your thing now you can plan accordingly.

SEASONS

Spring in Door County is a time of renewal. Local residents come out of hibernation, gardens and wildflowers come to life, and of course, cherry and apple trees blossom in spectacular fashion in our 3000 acres of orchards. There's no shortage of great spots to view the millions of daffodils and tulips blossoming. A host of festivals and special events celebrate the season and opportunities to get outside and hike, bike or run abound. Farmers Markets return, with fresh local produce and artisan products. There may be no better time to get acquainted with Door County than in the calmer, beautiful days of spring.

PERKS

Door County summers are second-to-none. The sun is bright, the sand is warm, and the water calls you to the shore. The lake breeze offers a relaxing break from the heat, and the villages come to life with al fresco dining, blossoms, and music. Visitors can soak up the sun, jump in the lake, explore dozens of beautiful parks, and experience a shopping adventure at hundreds of galleries, stores, and clothiers. Door County summers also bring around many organized races, rides, and paddles. These events offer a great way to see the county. As the day winds to a close, you can witness one of our famous sunsets followed by an evening of live theatre or music. Door County delivers all summer long.

PERKS

Beach Weather Outdoor Music Festivals

With its climate, scenery and vast open public spaces, Door County boasts some of the best fall color foliage in the Midwest. Whether you are camping in the brisk weather at one of the five state parks or taking a stroll through the dozens of nature preserves, you will see fall colors like you have never seen before. While the high energy of Door County's summer might be fading away, the festivals do not. In fact, our biggest festivals come in October. Fall also brings apple season, and you can pick your own throughout the county. Whether it's a celebration of the harvest, the fall colors or just the end of the summer season, Door County has it all. Note: While fall weekends can draw lots of people, the weekdays tend to be less busy.

PERKS

Door County's quiet season is the perfect backdrop for a getaway, whether you're playing on the snow and ice or cozying up by the fire. While the temperature drops and many residents migrate south for the winter, those who are still around or visiting the county have plenty to do to keep busy and stay warm. Explore the restaurants, wineries, breweries and shops that stay open year-round, and spend time outdoors reconnecting with nature – and yourself – in the fresh, pure air for which Door County is famous. From holiday season festivities to polar plunges and winter festivals, winter is a special time to be in the county. Whether you want to venture into the invigorating chill of the winter air or find a place to snuggle up with a hot cup of cocoa, enjoy the slower pace of a Door County winter.

Baileys Harbor is your gateway to Lake Michigan. Reel in a world class salmon or trout, catch major air while kiteboarding across the Harbor or leave it to the pros and watch them from one of our two beaches. Discover our maritime heritage in four lighthouses by land or boat or float a glass bottom kayak over shipwrecks. Find true wilderness in over 6,000 acres of public land at places like The Ridges Sanctuary and Toft Point or soar through the tree tops on a zip line. From our lake and farms to your tables, whether you browse the Sunday Farm Markets, stop at our brewery or winery, or dine at one of our amazing establishments, you will be eating & drinking locally.

Did You Know?

was Baileys Harbor, founded 170 years ago, in 1851. It was also Door County's first county seat (1851-1857) and started out as a lumber and quarry town.

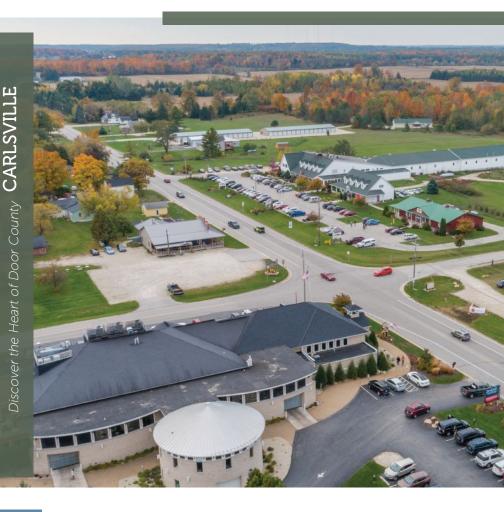

Clustered along Highway 42 between Sturgeon Bay and Egg Harbor, the community of Carlsville is small in size but big in spirit. The Carlsville businesses offer some pretty amazing things for the entire family. Visit the county's oldest winery, where you can tour, taste and enjoy. Visit Door County's original Coffee Roastery where you can see beans being roasted and enjoy your favorite coffee drink. Enjoy the smells of candle making in its process. Experience specialty stores and restaurants.

Did You Know?

Legend has it this small community's name came from the relatively high number of men with the first name Karl (as many as six) when the name was established. Originally spelled with a K, the name was later changed to the Americanized spelling of Carlsville.

A leisurely stroll along the village's downtown streets enchants the eye with galleries, shops and restaurants. Full of coastal charm with a state-of-the-art marina and beautiful sandy beach. Add in acclaimed performing arts and renowned galleries to the pristine scenery, and you have a spot you just don't want to miss. Cherry orchards, apple orchards, farm markets, and festivals. There's plenty to love about this small town. Egg Harbor...peaceful, unspoiled and delightfully small town.

Did You Know?

In June 1825, an epic egg battle (in good fun) between crew members among a six-boat trading flotilla scattered egg shells along the shore of the harbor. The resulting good-natured speeches helped to formally christen the location, now known as Egg Harbor.

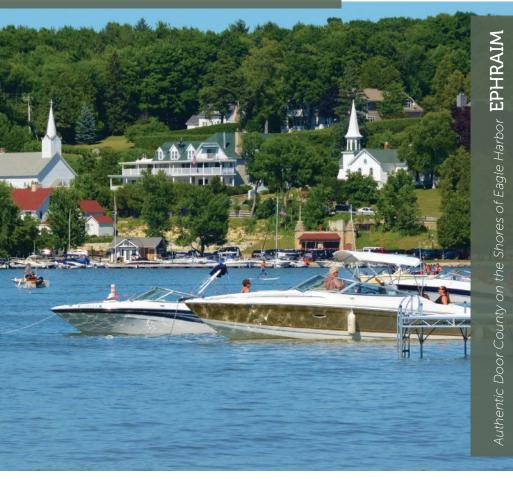

Uncrowded and relaxed, explore scenic pathways that lead to welcoming small town life, pristine parks, master artists' studios, and waterfront dining. Stay in a resort or charming cabin, and explore these very pet and bike friendly communities. Kayak the Mink River which is as pristine as the days when the Potawatomi lived there. Hike the trails at Newport State Park or visit the park at night to experience the stars in Wisconsin's first International Designated (IDA) "Dark Sky Park". Celebrate in every season with annual special events. Leave the "to do" list at home, breathe, and find yourself here.

The first commercially run Door County fish boil started in Ellison Bay at the Viking Grill restaurant in 1961. 60 years later, you can still get a fish boil at the Viking Grill!

Settled in 1853 by Norwegian Moravians, Ephraim's rich heritage has been carefully preserved over the years in more than thirty historical sites throughout the village. Ephraim's charm and nostalgic vibe are highlighted by its beautiful and active shoreline. Whether you choose to golf, boat, jet ski, paddle board, sail, parasail, kayak, swim, or lounge at the beach there is no better place to experience Door County than Eagle Harbor. With truly inspirational panoramic views of Peninsula State Park and mesmerizing sunsets, Ephraim is authentic Door County at its best.

Did You Know?

The first religious settlement in Door County, the word Ephraim is an Old Testament word meaning terfront village founded by the Rev. Andreas Iverson.

Located in the heart of Door County, this year-round destination offers an authentic blend of breathtaking scenery and memorable experiences. Fish Creek is home to a wide variety of accommodations, restaurants, shops, galleries, and activities for all ages, nestled in a historic waterfront village. As the gateway to Peninsula State Park, Fish Creek provides endless opportunities for exploring the beauty of Door County.

Whether this is your first visit or you are a seasoned guest, Fish Creek will leave you with lasting memories, no matter what time of year you visit.

Did You Know?

Believed to be the oldest standing structure in the county, the log cabin built by entrepreneur Fish Creek. Unbelievably, the tiny building was inhabited by Thorp, his wife and six children!

Sandy beaches, quaint shops, cozy cottages and some of the county's most scenic shoreline parks combine to make the Jacksonport area a don't-miss part of the full Door County experience. Lakeside Park, located on Highway 57 in the heart of the community, offers a great beach for swimming, with picnic facilities, restrooms and a children's play area. Shops, restaurants, and groceries are within walking distance. Just north of town, Meridian Park lies halfway between the equator and the North Pole. Two of the great parks in Door County are located just a few miles south of Jacksonport - Cave Point Park and Whitefish Dunes State Park.

Did You Know?

Established in 1967, Whitefish Dunes State Park is Door County's newest state park. The 865-acre day use park, located along the Lake Michigan shore, was set aside to protect the fragile dune environment and boasts the tallest sand dune in Wisconsin.

Experience our glorious waterfront playground with swimming, boating, fishing and loads of family fun. Just steps away visit our vibrant restaurant, shopping and music scene. Our lively and diverse restaurant and bar scene make Sister Bay Door County's dining and nightlife destination. You can find free live music every night of the week at many of our local eating spots and weekly Concerts at Waterfront Pavilion. You'll make the perfect "find" at any one of our collection of unique shops and galleries downtown and in The Country Walk Shops. All of this is accented by natural beauty, fabulous sunsets and an open, welcoming community.

Did You Know?

In the 1870s, settlers began emigrating to Washington Island from Iceland making it one of the largest Icelandic communities in North America. The Island was honorifically named for the ship George Washington, which took refuge from a storm in a safe harbor on the north side of the island where Schoolhouse Beach is now located.

THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT BRINGING YOUR DOG TO DOOR COUNTY

For your best dog-friendly vacation in Door County, take the time to plan ahead and learn about the best ways for bonding with your pet. Here are five guidelines for bringing your pup to the peninsula or Washington Island.

- Dogs are welcome in Door County, but don't expect to be able to take them everywhere. Dogs are not allowed at many beaches due to safety and health concerns, but your pup can take a dip at many other specific dog-friendly beaches, boat launches, and marinas. Do your research to find out how dog-friendly your preferred beach is before heading out.
- Keep pets on leashes. On the trails at state parks, sidewalks, and almost anywhere in the county, dogs are welcome, but keep them on a leash. It's common courtesy to your fellow humans, but it's also a good rule to follow to keep your dog safe and sound.
- When a restaurant won't let your dog inside, they're not being unfriendly. According to state law, dogs are not allowed in dining establishments in Door County. However, they are allowed on many restaurant patios at the restaurant owner's discretion. Find dog-friendly restaurant patios at www.DoorCounty.com under Dine.
- Exercise caution during walks. When walking your dog on the county's rural roads, be aware that speed limits are often 45–55 mph. Wear bright clothing, walk or run against traffic, and step off the road when cars approach on narrow roads.
- Many towns and villages have their own dog parks. Take your family pet to the dog park nearest you to let loose, meet other pups, run laps, and chase endless tennis balls.

TOP 5 SAFETY TIPS FOR WALKING

- Walk/run facing traffic so that you can prepare your dog for approaching vehicles and take evasive action if necessary. This is especially important if you run with earbuds and music.
- 2 Keep your dog on the side of you closest to the ditch and farthest away from oncoming traffic.
- Wear bright or reflective colors if you are walking/running on roads or even trails with other traffic such as bikes or ATVs.
- Consider the weather and adjust the length and time of day accordingly. Conditions that are either too hot or too cold can be a problem.
- In cold and/or icy conditions consider a product like Musher's Secret which is applied to paws for protection from ice, salt and other irritants.

OUR HISTORY

10,000 BC

Even though the most recent permanent Native American and European settlers came to Door County in the past few centuries, the peninsula and islands have actually seen residents for thousands of years. Door County was home to early nomadic residents more than 12,000 years ago, and archaeological evidence suggests it has been continuously inhabited by humans since 10,000 BC.

NATIVE AMERICAN SETTLERS

Early permanent settlements date back 2,000 years. The dominant Native American tribe in the region were the Potawatomi. Other influential tribes include the Winnebago (or Ho-Chunk), the Ojibwe, the Sauk, the Menominee and the Ottawa.

1600'S

In the 1600s, the peninsula saw French explorers such as Jean Nicolet and Father Marquette pass through. Robert de LaSalle's ship Griffin, loaded with valuable furs, disappeared in the Great Lakes on its way back east in 1679.

1783-PRESENT

The British claimed the territory from the French, and in 1783 the United States claimed it from the British.

Under the United States government, the peninsula was first designated part of the Northwest Territory. As populations grew and shifted, the land was considered part of Indiana Territory, Illinois Territory, Michigan Territory, and Wisconsin Territory. In 1848, when Wisconsin became a state, the peninsula was designated part of Brown County.

The county's first permanent white settlers were Increase and Mary Claflin who established themselves in the Little Sturgeon Bay area, and then moved in 1844 to the area now known as Weborg Point in Peninsula State Park. Entrepreneur Asa Thorp built the dock at Fish Creek in 1855, establishing the only place between Fort Howard (Green Bay) and Rock Island for ships to refuel on cordwood, and the village naturally thrived.

In 1848, Captain Justice Bailey sought a safe harbor for his ship during a storm. Discovering timber suitable for cordwood, Bailey informed his supervisor, and by 1850 nearly 2,500 cords of wood were being shipped out of Baileys Harbor annually.

In 1851, Door County had finally acquired enough settlers to be established as a county all its own. For one year, Door County included present-day Kewaunee County, until the 1852 legislature re-determined the boundaries.

The Reverend Andrew Iverson and three followers set out from Green Bay on a cold February day in 1853, and walked on the ice to Eagle Harbor, where they met Ole Larsen at his home on Horseshoe (Eagle) Island. Crossing the ice to the opposite shore, they found the site for their congregation to establish a community, which they named Ephraim.

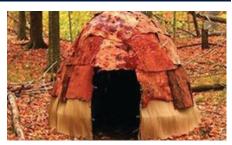

Early settlers of the county made their living largely through the harvest of timber and fish. By 1900, over-harvesting of these resources, combined with improved transportation — including a regular schedule of passenger steamers to the villages — led to the rise of the tourism industry. And although the land had never been suitable for farming crops such as wheat, it was discovered that fruit trees would flourish. Today the county welcomes over 2.5 million visitors annually.

NATIVE AMERICAN HISTORICAL SITES IN DOOR COUNTY

The history and influence of Paleo-Indians and Native Americans in Door County can be seen in countless places, and there are a handful of spots where visitors can take a deeper dive into the lives of the region's early inhabitants, including viewing artifacts and historically significant sites. At these five locations, travelers can spend time appreciating the people who came before us and on whose land we work, live, play, and visit.

WHITEFISH DUNES STATE PARK (Sturgeon Bay)

At this lakeside park, visitors can be transported back to Door County's earliest days to see a re-creation of a Native American settlement, including replica wigwam structures and prehistoric tools. The park's nature center also houses several hand-painted murals depicting scenes from the lives of these first inhabitants.

While performing archaeological digs on the land that's now the state park, scientists have discovered artifacts that indicate eight different groups made their homes here over the centuries. The Potawatomi were the first and primary denizens of this area, but other nations such as the Winnebago, Ojibwe, Sauk, and Menominee also passed through and established permanent or semi-permanent homesteads.

CARDY PALEO-INDIAN CAMPSITE

(Sturgeon Bay, West Side)

This site marks the spot where Door County resident Darrel Cardy's family farm once stood and where he gathered a huge collection of Paleo-Indian artifacts over his lifetime.

Thanks to Cardy's persistence, scientists eventually came to the Sturgeon Bay site to perform an archaeological dig where even more relics were uncovered. There it was confirmed that Native nations settled this land and left behind Clovis points, hunting tools, scrapers, and other artifacts dating back more than 10,000 years. Further, these digs proved that Native Americans had lived much further north and were in the area much earlier than previously thought.

Today, the site features a historical marker and a kiosk with photographs and detailed information about the scientific discovery of the items, their historical significance, and Native American history in the area.

PENINSULA STATE PARK (Fish Creek)

In Peninsula State Park, visitors can see a colorful totem pole that was built in 1927 to honor the county's early inhabitants. The totem pole's unveiling was a twoday celebration that included "ceremonial singing, dancing, bonfires, and athletic events" (Wisconsin Historical Markers). It was hosted by Chief Simon Onanquisse Kahquados of the Potawatomi nation, who died in 1931 and was buried near the site; a memorial gravesite marks his resting place. Kahquados was a tireless advocate for the Potawatomi nation and spent his later years trying to convince the federal government to return his native land in nearby Kewaunee County to its people. Decades earlier, the government had seized the land and forcibly removed the Native residents. Although he never saw his dream come to full fruition, Kahquados was a hugely influential and greatly respected leader, and more than 15,000 people attended his funeral. His grave and a memorial plague are located near the totem pole, which he helped get built in the 1930s.

Both of these historic spots are located on the Peninsula State Park Golf Course. Visitors can contact the golf course to organize a viewing.

DOOR COUNTY HISTORICAL MUSEUM (Sturgeon Bay)

In addition to the Paleo-Indian site at Crossroads, visitors can learn about Darrel Cardy's collection of Native American artifacts at the Door County Historical Museum in Sturgeon Bay. Cardy donated the collection, and it is now a permanent exhibit among the museum's other Native American relics, which includes centuriesold textiles, clothing, tools and other items. The Cardy collection "contains fluted spear points, end scrapers, flake tools and various other artifacts that are distinctly different from and much older than the stone tools used by the Native Americans who were encountered by the earliest European explorers" (Door County Pulse).

SITE OF CHIEF OSHKOSH'S TRADING POST

(Egg Harbor)

Chief Roy Oshkosh of the Menominee Nation is an icon in Door County known as a passionate advocate for both the region and the Menominee people. The official "first ambassador" of the county, Oshkosh was well known for his vibrant personality, quick wit, and fierce love of the Door peninsula and Washington Island. He is also remembered for his lively powwows that attracted locals and visitors alike and showcased authentic Menominee drumming, dancing, clothing, and storytelling.

After arriving in Egg Harbor in the late 1930s and working in the shipbuilding industry, Oshkosh located a spiritual place in Door County that his grandmother used to tell him about, "where the water flowed through a wooded glen and disappeared never to be seen again" (Door County Pulse). He eventually found the beautiful creek-side site, purchased it, and re-established it not only as his homestead but a trading post and a museum of Menominee art and relics. These days, the trading post and other structures Oshkosh built still stand. Visitors can stop at this historic site in Egg Harbor where Chief Oshkosh worked so hard to honor and do right by his people. The trading post continues to sell jewelry, music, books, art, baskets, and more, and travelers can also see a statue of Oshkosh built in 1985 and the amphitheater where he held his famous powwows.

So where does the name Door County come from? You can trace it to the area's most dangerous, mythical feature - Porte des Morts, or as it's now called, Death's Door.

The strait linking Lake Michigan and Green Bay, between the tip of the peninsula and Washington Island, was once one of the most notorious, treacherous stretches of water on the Great Lakes.

The name has been traced to a battle between rival Indian tribes in the seventeenth century, by both an early government surveyor and historian Hjalmar Holand.

It was a calm night on the waters of Lake Michigan when a group of Potawatomi Indians set out from the islands north of the Door County peninsula to attack the Winnebago Indians on the mainland. While the historic records disagree on the some of the details, all accounts agree that the waters were calm when the Potawatomi warriors left their islands, but abruptly, the weather turned bad, capsizing canoes and trapping warriors in an onslaught near the rocky shore of what is now Ellison Bay.

Meanwhile, a group of Winnebago warriors who were sent to attack the Potawatomi villages on the islands also got caught in the dangerous waters. They were never heard from again. In all, hundreds of warriors died, giving the thin stretch of water its name.

In the centuries since, Death's Door's reputation for rough waters, unpredictable weather and hidden shoals have made it something of a legend with shipwrecks and accounts of lost lives to back it up.

French explorers named the passage after hearing the Native American accounts and sailing the waters themselves. Some say that the French named the passage to discourage British exploration and fur traders through the strait. After all, it was the only way to get from the trading post at modern-day Green Bay to the rest of the Great Lakes.

Whether any of these accounts is absolutely true is unclear, but none will deny that it is home to scores of shipwrecks, perhaps the most of any freshwater in the world.

The passage claimed 24 sailing vessels between 1837 and 1914 and nearly 40 in the nearby waters in the same period. The destruction was so apparent that it contributed to the decision to build the canal through Sturgeon Bay in 1881. Not only could a ship cut 100 miles off its journey, but it could avoid the swirling waters and dark memories.

While the legend is still shrouded in mystery, it has lived on in the culture of the county. It has inspired the name of beer, spirits and even a barbeque festival on Washington Island each August.

For more than 80 years, the Washington Island Ferry Line has made it possible for locals and visitors to safely cross Death's Door. Make your reservation to cross through the door that has claimed the lives and ships of so many through the county's history.

Similar to birdwatchers eagerly waiting to catch sight of flocks heading south for the winter, the community of Sturgeon Bay awaits the winter fleet arrival. "Fleet" refers to a group of large ships gether, but each one separately and on its own schedule. The destination of these ships is Fincantieri Bay Shipbuilding in Sturgeon Bay, also known as the "Shipbuilding Capital of the Great Lakes," where they will receive winterizing, repairs, and upgrades. The shipbuilding history of Sturgeon Bay extends back in to the 1850s with the area's first settlers.

The reason the arrivals of these behemoths is so exciting is that these are ships that normally can near shoreline except in shipping (or shipbuilding) ports. The canal is deep enough to facilitate only trick is knowing when to be on the lookout.

With the start of each winter season, Fincantieri Bay Shipbuilders provides a schedule of estimated arrivals, but these dates often change due to weather. Destination Sturgeon Bay keeps updated feed of the canal on the website.

DOOR COUNTY LIGHTHOUSES

Towering over 300 miles of picturesque shoreline, you will find historic lighthouses standing testament to Door County's rich maritime heritage. In the 19th and early 20th centuries, these landmarks of yesteryear assisted sailors in navigating the lake and bay waters of the Door Peninsula and surrounding islands. Today, many are still operational and welcome visitors with compelling stories and breathtaking views. Relax and step back in time. Plan your Door County lighthouse tour today.

POTTAWATOMIE LIGHTHOUSE

Wisconsin's first lighthouse, located on the north end of Rock Island State Park. Established 1836, rebuilt 1858, automated 1956. Open daily for guided tours from 10am to 4pm Memorial Day Weekend through Columbus Day. Visiting the lighthouse requires a boat ride to Rock Island, then a 1.25 mile hike (one-way) from the dock. Lighthouse has been restored and the tour includes climbing up to the lantern room for panoramic views. While the lantern room has been fully restored, complete with a replica 4th Order Fresnel lens, the active beacon shines from a separate skeleton tower located nearby. Rock Island is ONLY accessible by the "Karfi" public ferry or private boat. (920) 847-2235. 45°25'39"N 86°49'41"W

PLUM ISLAND RANGE LIGHTS

PILOT ISLAND LIGHTHOUSE

Built 1858, automated 1962. The original light on Plum Island, built in 1848, no longer exists because ship owners and captains complained to the Lighthouse Board that the original Plum Island light was too far to the west, so President Buchanan built the lighthouse on Pilot Island. Built of Cream City brick, this graceful structure is in dire need of repair. The light is visible only by water and there is no trespassing on Coast Guard property. Narrated boat tours are available through several boat tour companies. 45°17'3.067"N 86°55'11.012"W

CHAMBERS ISLAND LIGHTHOUSE

Located on the northwest corner of Chambers Island. This lighthouse is only accessible by boat. It was established 1868, and automated in 1961. The lighthouse is open from Memorial Day to Labor Day Friday - Sunday. There are public restrooms available. Museum inside lighthouse. No public transportation is available to the lighthouse. (920) 868-3100. 45°12'09"N 87°21'53"W

EAGLE BLUFF LIGHTHOUSE

Easily accessed by Shore Rd. in Peninsula State Park. A map is available at either park entrance. Built in 1868, three keepers manned the light until 1926, when the navigational mechanism was automated. The Eagle Bluff Lighthouse Museum is open mid-May through mid-October. Hours of operation are 10am-4pm. Guided tours are available daily, every half hour through 3:30pm. (920) 421-3636 or www.EagleBluffLighthouse.org. Please call ahead for special events and group tours. 45°10'07.3"N 87°14'11.98"W

6 CANA ISLAND LIGHTHOUSE

8800 East Cana Island Rd, Baileys Harbor. Established 1869, automated 1944. The island is operated as a museum by the Door County Maritime Museum, www.dcmm.org. The grounds are open daylight hours year round; lighthouse is open from 10am-4:30pm, daily May-October. Last climb begins at 4pm. There are age and height restrictions for children to safely climb the tower. They must be 5 years or older and/or 42 inches tall. (920) 743-5958. 45°05'17.234"N 87°02'51.515"W

BAILEYS HARBOR RANGE LIGHTS

The Ridges Nature Center, 8166 Hwy 57. Established 1869, automated 1923. Between 1869 and 1969 these range lights were used by navigators to safely enter Baileys Harbor. When the unique upper and lower lights were lined up with one light over the other, the sailor knew he/she was in safe water. These lights were removed from service in 1969 and a directional light was placed atop a 31-foot skeletal tower on the shore. In 1993, the Ridges Sanctuary restored both range lights. In 2012 the Lower Range Light underwent a full restoration. In 2015, the Lights were relit and are once again functioning as a navigational aid. (920) 839-2802. 45°04'13"N 87°07'11"W

3 OLD BAILEYS HARBOR LIGHT

Built 1852, removed from service 1869. This unusual structure, with its unique bird cage lantern room, is located on an island near the town of Baileys Harbor. It was abandoned in 1869 when the Lighthouse Board decided to build Range Lights in Baileys Harbor instead of repairing this light. This light is privately owned, but available kayak and boat tours pass by the lighthouse. 45°03'21"N 87°05'49"W

SHERWOOD POINT LIGHTHOUSE

Established 1883, automated 1983. This was the last manned lighthouse on the US Great Lakes. The entire facility is operated as a rest and recuperation area for active members of the U.S. military on a rental basis. Your cooperation in maintaining the privacy of the occupants is appreciated. Lighthouse grounds are only open to the public during the Annual Lighthouse Festivals in June and October. 44°53'34"N 87°26'0.36"W

© STURGEON BAY CANAL STATION LIGHTHOUSE

Established 1899, automated 1972. Located at a fully operating United States Coast Guard Station, situated at the mouth of the Sturgeon Bay ship canal on Lake Michigan. From Hwy 42/57 north of the Bay View Bridge, turn east onto Utah St., Utah St. to Cove Rd., Cove Rd. to Canal Rd., then continue out to the Canal Station. Parking is provided outside of the station grounds. Lighthouse available year-round for external viewing only, with public access limited to the designated walkway leading past the tower light down to the north breakwater pier. Breakwater pier is open to the public and has another lighthouse at the end. Grounds are open to the public during the Lighthouse Festivals in June and October. 44°47'42.038"N 87°18'48.03"W

10 NORTH PIERHEAD LIGHTHOUSE

Established 1882, automated 1972. Located at the end of the north breakwater at the entrance to the Sturgeon Bay ship canal on Lake Michigan. On site is an active United States Coast Guard station. Lighthouse available year-round for external viewing only. Walk to the end of the north breakwater pier for closest viewing. For directions and parking info, see listing for Sturgeon Bay Canal Station Lighthouse. 44°47'31.26"N 87°18'34.322"W

Visitors can take advantage of additional access to locations not typically open to the public during the Annual Door County Lighthouse Festivals, which well be held the weekends of June 11-13 and October 1-3 in 2021. For additional lighthouse and festival information, contact the Door County Maritime Museum at (920) 743-5958.

pulse-pounding, adventure packed excursions throughout the area. Hike or bike the beautiful countryside or in any of the serene state and county parks. Climb aboard a charter boat for an opportunity to reel in a trophy fish. If you're feeling really adventurous, try zip-lining, parasailing, jet skiing, or wakeboarding. For an underwater experience, scuba dive amongst shipwrecks from the 1800s. You can also explore the area via Segway, moped, ATV, or on an airplane tour. Regardless of what you choose, there are many recreational activities that will make your next Door County vacation one to remember.

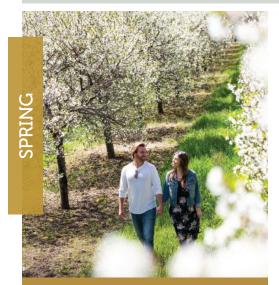

Searching for something a little more relaxing? With plenty of leisure activities ranging from sailing to paddle boarding, there are lots of opportunities to get on the water and venture along 300 miles of picturesque shoreline. Bring your own or rent clubs and play any of the golf courses that deliver unforgettable views that will bring you back again and again. Or bring your discs and enjoy a round of disc golf. Take a marvelous guided tour on the trolley or catch the ferry for a relaxing trip to Washington Island. There are many family fun options as well. Gather your crew and enjoy your time at a local animal farm, go for a trail ride on horseback, play mini-golf, or ride go-karts. In the evening, enjoy a double feature at one of the few remaining drive-in movie theatres under a sky of stars. There's no shortage of fun, memorable ways to spend your time in Door County.

EXPLORE THE WONDERS OF DOOR COUNTY'S PARKS IN ANY SEASON

Door County is packed with lovingly preserved county, state, and community parks just begging to be explored. This slender peninsula and its surrounding islands are home to five sprawling state parks, 19 county parks, dozens of local parks, and even four dog parks. Wherever you go, whichever park calls to you, you're sure to find a cure for your wanderlust up here.

When spring has sprung get active offer boat launches for you to spend launch a kayak for a leisurely paddle.

Pack a picnic and spend the day exploring. Take a dip at one of the many beaches, go birding, or play at a playground. Peninsula, Potawatomi, Rock Island, and Newport all offer campsites to extend your day trip into the evening. Memories are always made over a campfire.

PACKING FOR THE PARKS

The state parks of Door County are the centerpiece of vacations for thousands of families every year. Each of our county's five state parks (more than any other county in Wisconsin!) offers a unique experience.

You can easily enjoy a full day in any of these natural wonders, and you'll love it best when you come prepared. Here's a simple checklist to help you pack for your park adventure in Door

DOOR COUNTY STATE PARKS CHECKLIST

The basics for a great day in the parks.

Camera: You'll want to remember these vistas.

Picnic basket: Find a spot at the beach, or a secluded spot on the shore.

Frisbee: A lightweight toy that takes up little room in a hiking pack.

Beach chairs or blanket: Read a book, take a nap, relax.

Beach towels: No excuse not to take

Hiking shoes or sneakers: For tramping the trail.

Sunglasses and/or a hat with visor: No need to squint all day.

Hoodie: If you stay through the evening anywhere in Door County, you'll want a hoodie eventually.

Trail maps: Grab these at the park entrance and explore.

Bug spray: If they're biting, it's a must.

Sunscreen: Don't ruin tomorrow by forgetting your skin today.

Water: Hydration is key!

Face wipes: Great after a sweaty hike or game in the park.

Trail mix/ snacks: Of course.

In 2019, USA Today's 10 Best named Door County "the top place in the country to see fall foliage" and the parks in the county offer some of the best places to see fall colors. From scenic overlooks, canopies of trees, and shorelines sprinkled with colors you will see vibrant yellows, oranges, and reds. Don't forget your camera!

cross-country skiing, From snowmobiling, ice fishing hiking there is no shortage of activities in the winter. For those not wanting to partake in winter sports, just bundle up and enjoy the beauty of snow glistened trees, ice shoves, and the iconic ice formations of Cave Point County Park.

WHAT IS THE NIAGARA ESCARPMENT preen Door County's unique geography is no mistake. The towering bluffs that make some of the best scenic attractions in Door County possible are part of a much larger rock formation. The Niagara Escarpment is a massive limestone cliff that runs from Lake Winnebago in east-central Wisconsin through Ontario, Canada before winding down near Niagara Falls in New York. The famous cliff over which the Niagara River plunges is part of the very same rock formation that runs through Door County. The escarpment is internationally recognized for its geologic peninsula, it also contributes to weather patterns that make the peninsula some of the best wine-producing land in the region.

NATURAL WONDERS OF DOOR COUNTY

surpass these 9 natural wonders of Door County.

NIAGARA ESCARPMENT

The escarpment is most stunningly experienced from atop four famous viewpoints - Sven's Bluff and Eagle Bluff in Peninsula State Park, Ellison Bluff lookout just outside Ellison Bay, and Door Bluff Headlands between Ellison Bay and Gills Rock. But for a true appreciation of the landscape the escarpment creates one must get out on the water for a topside view of the towering rock bluffs that rise hundreds of feet from the shore below.

SCHOOLHOUSE BEACH

It's not the easiest beach to get to, but it's one of the most spectacular on the Great Lakes. Located on the north side of Washington Island, this horseshoe shaped beach features Caribbean blue waters and a shoreline covered in smooth stones

OLD BALDY

Located in Whitefish Dunes State Park, Old Baldy is the highest sand dune in the state, rising 93 feet from the lake below.

CAVE POINT

Just up the road from Old Baldy is Cave Point, one of the most popular spots in the county. This stunning shoreline of rocky caves is a must-see for visitors, whether it's crowded with kids and kayakers in July, or shrouded in glistening ice in January. Waves crash into the rocks as they have for thousands of years, creating a thundering boom and carving caves into the rock of the escarpment below.

THE RIDGES SANCTUARY

The sanctuary preserves a series of 30 ridges and swales formed by the continual rise and fall of Lake Michigan over the last 1,400 years. The ridges and swales create incredible biological diversity. The preserve is home to 475 different plant species, making it the most biologically diverse ecosystem in Wisconsin.

DEATH'S DOOR

Death's Door's reputation for rough waters, unpredictable weather and hidden shoals have made it something of a legend with shipwrecks and accounts of lost lives to back it up. You can experience the passage in much greater safety than the original explorers by taking the Washington Island Ferry.

MINK RIVER ESTUARY

This pristine habitat is so remarkable that Fodor's travel guide in 2009 called it one of the 500 places you have to see before it disappears. Waters from the Mink River and Lake Michigan combine to form this freshwater estuary. Enjoy a habitat almost identical to that witnessed by the Potawotami Indians, who lived here more than 100 years ago.

NEWPORT STATE PARK'S DARK SKY

The night sky is stunning when viewed anywhere in Door County, but nowhere do the stars shine as bright as they do at Newport State Park. Recognized as one of 49 International Dark Sky Parks in 2017, Newport on a clear night offers spectacular panoramas of the Milky Way.

ICE AGE TRAIL

If you take Duluth Ave. down to the very edge of Sturgeon Bay, the county seat, you'll find yourself at the terminus of the Ice Age Trail. One of just 11 National Scenic Trails, the Ice Age Trail follows the path where more than 12,000 years ago an immense floe of glacial ice sculpted a landscape of remarkable beauty across Wisconsin. As the glacier retreated, it left behind a variety of unique landscape features.

THE BEST SUNRISE & SUNSET SPOTS IN DOOR COUNTY

The Door County peninsula extends at a north-northeastern angle into Lake Michigan, making one half of the shoreline primarily west-facing and the other half primarily east-facing. The bay side and the lake side therefore are excellent for viewing sunsets and sunrises, respectively. We have eight excellent places we recommend to enjoy this twice daily twilight - four for the early birds and four for the night owls!

Places to Watch the Sunrise

CAVE POINT COUNTY PARK, STURGEON BAY

Spectacular as it is on its own, the trails and cliffs at Cave Point take on an otherworldly aura when seen just as the sun is rising. Cave Point County Park opens at 6:00 am, so you may need to plan your viewing during early or late summer.

ROWLEYS BAY

A stay at Rowleys Bay Resort or the Wagon Trail Campground will put you in excellent position to spot a beautiful sunrise over Lake Michigan. Take a short walk down the road to Sand Bay Park and you will be in a prime location for those beautiful morning skies.

BAILEYS HARBOR

This relaxing harbor town has amazing sunrise views everywhere you go! Pack a breakfast picnic and bring a blanket to Anclam Town Park and tour the rest of the bay and catch the sunset by boat with The Shoreline Sightseeing Cruises.

SHIP CANAL PIERHEAD, STURGEON BAY

At the eastern entrance to the Sturgeon Bay Canal you will find the Sturgeon Bay Ship Canal Pierhead which provides beautiful Lake Michigan views made that much more spectacular by a sunrise.

Places to Watch the Sunset

WATERFRONT PARK, SISTER BAY

You won't have trouble finding a spot on the shore at Door County's largest public waterfront park offering over 1,900 feet of water access. The park features picnic tables, a large grassy lawn, a public pier and plenty of sand beach to walk along during the twilight hour.

SKYLINE ROAD OVERLOOKS, PENINSULA STATE PARK

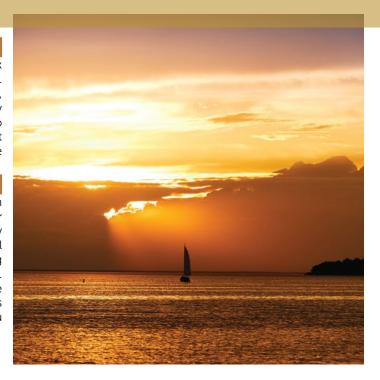

Take a leisurely drive and savor the views from atop a tall bluff on Skyline Road in Peninsula State Park just south of Fish Creek. Make a pit stop at the lookout area of Sven's Bluff to peer out across the water and find great views of the sunset around Chambers Island. The island is the second largest in Door County and even has an inland lake. Strawberry Islands are also visible; the four islands are named Adventure, Jack, Pirate and Little Strawberry.

SUNSET PARK, FISH CREEK

As the name suggests, Sunset Park is a perfect place to watch sunsets. Located near downtown Fish Creek, you can enjoy dinner or a drink nearby before strolling down to see the sun go down at the water's edge. Find a seat along the stone fence that lines the shore and soak it all in.

ANDERSON DOCK, EPHRAIM

The graffitied boards of the house on Anderson Dock are an iconic Door County image, and it's especially beautiful at sunset. The historical dock is an ideal perch for watching the sun set behind the peninsula. From the location of the dock, the sun will disappear behind the bluffs at Peninsula State Park and leave you with a sky full of colors.

There's something about the water that draws us in and doesn't let go. It's therapeutic in its own right, providing a calm that only water can give us. One that rejuvenates our mind and spirit. It's essential to our bodies and our ecosystem. And we're lucky enough to be surrounded by it in Door County.

Reap the benefits of water by spending a day with it. Pamper yourself with a day of paddling, diving or just floating in sync with the waves. Feel the wind against your skin as the sun kisses your face and take in the sights of expansive waters, beautiful shoreline bluffs, and hills of trees reaching skyward.

THINGS TO KNOW ABOUT STAYING SAFE ON BIG

Door County may not be on an ocean, but don't be mistaken - Lake Michigan is big water.

Here are some safety tips that everyone taking part in water recreation should have in mind every time they push off from shore.

- Check the weather. It may look sunny and calm, but wind can pick up and storms roll in with little visible warning. Check what's in the forecast for the next several hours, specifically wind condition and waves, but also water temperature.
- Make a plan. Anytime you head out on the water, let someone know you are heading out, and 2 when you expect to be back on shore, and let them know you'll contact them when you're there.
- Go with someone. This isn't always possible, but if you have the option, go out with a friend.
- Wear your safety vest. Don't ditch it on shore, don't just bring it with you. You won't have a chance to put it on if disaster strikes. Wear a properly fitted Coast Guard-approved personal flotation device. Pack your personal gear, such as your cell phone, in a waterproof bag and tie it to your boat so you don't lose it if you capsize.
- Bring a signaling device such as a whistle, flashlight or cell phone.
- Know your craft. Not all kayaks are meant for big water or bad weather. Learn the limitations of your kayak, canoe, or boat.
- Stay near shore. Lake Michigan is BIG water. Keep the shore in sight at all times. Even a little wind can create wave action that makes it difficult to get back to shore, and bad weather can quickly make it difficult to navigate and find your bearings on the water.

Whether you're looking for an intense, all-day bike ride or a leisurely trek with the family, Door County boasts some of the best trails in Wisconsin. The region offers scenic winding roads, peaceful trails, five state parks, 19 county parks, and dozens of nature preserves to explore.

Pick up a bike map at the Door County Welcome Center or businesses around the county.

Door County. Visit the guiet, shallow shores of Haines Park, located in Southern Door, or relax at the bustling beaches of Peninsula State Park or Whitefish Dunes State Park. Build a sandcastle, have a picnic, or simply escape the stresses of day-to-day life by visiting one of the many beaches. Looking for a little adventure? Kayak, canoe, paddle board, or Jet Ski along the electrifying shores of Door County. If you have not had the opportunity, hop on the Fish Creek Beach ferry from Northport to Washington Island and experience the amazing Schoolhouse Beach, one of five limestone beaches in the Egg Harbor Beach world. Winter's chill doesn't stop Door County's visitors from taking advantage of the beautiful winter landscapes and the area's trails, parks and nature preserves. Don't forget to gear up before hitting the trails. Here are three ways to stay active and explore Door County's plethora of winter sports:

By Foot: Door County's plentiful trails and parks create ample opportunities to try cross-country skiing, snowshoeing and other winter sports.

By Ice: If you're a fan of extraordinary views and unusual experiences, try venturing out onto a frozen lake for a little ice fishing or ice skating.

By Machine: If speed is your need, consider snowmobiling across an open field or hidden trail.

While spring, summer and fall are often pegged as the best months for outdoor activities, Door County winters boast some of the best ways to experience the parks, prairies, and open countryside of the county. While 250 miles of trails will be sure to take you through every kind of natural landscape the region has to offer, some stretches are favorites among local snowmobile enthusiasts.

Respect the Trail: Rules for Snowmobile Riders. The seven dedicated snowmobile clubs in the area maintain the trails throughout the county, most of which travel through private land. These landowners donate the use of their land to snowmobilers, and it's up to the riders to follow the rules and keep the extensive trail system open. Follow these four rulesof-thumb when snowmobiling in Door County: (a) Respect private and public property by not riding on closed trails. (b) Stay on the trails. Leaving a trail may result in damage to private property. (c) Follow all signage and stop at road crossings. (d) Do not leave or drop anything along the trail.

Come Aboard -IN DOOR COUNTY

In a place with 300 miles of shoreline, it's hard not to. By motor or sail, paddle or stroke, the waters surrounding Door County offer amazing experiences without which no visit is complete.

For the captains among us the county is a boater's paradise. Nearly every community in the county offers a marina where you can tie up and take a short walk from the dock to wonderful restaurants, taverns and shopping. You'll find plentiful amenities at most marinas as well as convenience stores and delis nearby to stock up on supplies or pack sandwiches for a day on the water.

And once you pull away from the dock, you'll be treated to awe-inspiring views of the bluffs of the Niagara Escarpment that line the shores of Door County. Explore the islands in the bay and lake, or hug the shore and check out spectacular waterfront homes.

Looking for a trophy catch? Cast a line in one of the county's inland lakes, or head out on the big water with a local pro to guide you to the best spots for salmon, trout, walleye, and small- and large-mouth bass.

Don't have a boat of your own, or don't want to tow it up on vacation? There are plenty of rental options throughout the county. There are also several boat tours offering sunset cruises, narrated tours, and live music. Enjoy a drink and listen to the tales of our lighthouses and shipwrecks.

The water offers stunning views of towering bluffs and caves you can't see from land, and some of the county's most beautiful shoreline homes and boathouses.

With so much scenery and history around you, sit back, relax, and soak it all in. Leave your stress on shore and let the waters of Lake Michigan rejuvenate you.

Do you hear the water calling?

Flanked on either side by Green Bay and Lake Michigan, Door County offers some of the best fishing in the country. Sturgeon Bay, recently named Bassmasters Number 1 bass fishing location, is the hub of the angler community, but communities throughout the county have developed their fishing industries to make sure you land your best lunker. In addition to bass, our waters feature trout, salmon, whitefish, walleye, northern pike, perch and more. Launching into the lake water on the east side of the peninsula, you can expect to find record trout and salmon. Gills Rock has frequently been the site of chinook salmon stocking by the Department of Natural Resources. While salmon season doesn't end, the open season for lake trout is March 1 to Oct. 31.

The calmer waters of Green Bay will ensure a good harvest of brown trout and walleye in the spring and even more walleye in the fall. The Sturgeon Bay Canal and surrounding waters into Green Bay are where smallmouth bass are rampant. Those waters served the 2015 Bassmasters Angler of the Year Championship in 2015. At many of the county's inland lakes, including Clark Lake, Europe Lake and Kangaroo Lake, you will find panfish such as bluegill and perch.

The county's robust fishing industry is complemented by professional level charter services that operate throughout the year, offering a no-hassle way to fish the waters of Door County.

In just the past few years, ice fishing in Door County has added to the winter appeal of the county. Whether you need a charter service to set you up out on the ice or have your own shanty to plant on the frozen water, make Door County your year round fishing destination.

LARGEST LAKES IN DOOR COUNTY MID-SIZED LAKES

KANGAROO LAKE

At 1,156 acres, Kangaroo Lake is Door County's largest inland lake and is located in Baileys Harbor. With a maximum depth of 12 feet, it's an ideal spot for swimming, boating, fishing, kayaking, and canoeing. If you're a fisher-man or -woman, you'll find this lake stocked with Panfish, Largemouth Bass, Smallmouth Bass, Northern Pike, and Walleye.

A causeway was built in the late 1800s and separates the lake into the developed southern portion and the undeveloped northern portion, which consists of extensive wetlands. The entire north end of Kangaroo Lake is ringed by floating sedge mats and surrounded by a lowland forest of white cedar, black ash, tamarack, black spruce, and balsam fir.

Kangaroo Lake is home to a diversity of forest and wildflowers, as well as rare and endangered species, including the dorcas copper butterfly, the bald eagle, osprey, and Caspian terns. It provides a breeding and migratory habitat for black terns, sandhill cranes, and other waterfowl and is home to one of just two known reproducing populations of the federally endangered Hine's emerald dragonfly.

CLARK LAKE

The second-largest lake in Door County at 865 acres, Clark Lake is located just north of Whitefish Dunes State Park near Jacksonport. Its maximum depth is 25 feet and mean depth is 7 feet.

Clark Lake is very clear and is a popular fishing spot in Wisconsin. The fish found in Clark Lake include Panfish, Smallmouth Bass, Northern Pike, Walleye, Largemouth Bass, and Trout.

Clark Lake has one public boat landing, at the end of Town Line Road on the west side of the lake. It can be accessed from three public parks or natural areas: Logan Creek State Natural Area along the north side of the lake, Whitefish Dunes State Park on the east side of the lake, and Whitefish Dunes State Natural Area to the southeast.

This 347-acre lake is located on the northeast side of Chambers Island. The lake has a maximum depth of 27 feet and a mean depth of 6 feet. The bottom is 80% sand, 17% gravel. and 3% muck. The water clarity is low.

LAKE MACKAYSEE

Most of Chambers Island is privately owned, but there is a public boat launch at the East Dock on the island. The lake can be accessed via road from there.

Lake Mackaysee is home to a number of fish, including Panfish, Largemouth Bass, Smallmouth Bass, and Northern Pike; it also contains two small islands.

EUROPE LAKE

This 297-acre lake is located near Gills Rock at the eastern tip of the Door County peninsula near the Lake Michigan shoreline. Europe Lake can be accessed from parks, public lands, and a public boat landing at the end of Europe Lake Road. Nearby public lands include Newport State Park to the south, Ferdinand Hotz Park, and Europe Bay Woods State Natural Area.

Europe Lake, which has a mean depth of 6 feet and a maximum depth of 10 feet, is mainly a lowland marsh. It's a popular Wisconsin fishing lake, where anglers can find Panfish, Smallmouth Bass, Northern Pike, and Walleye. It's the most eastern lake in Wisconsin.

SMALLER LAKES IN DOOR COUNTY

LOST LAKE

Coming in as the second smallest lake at only 92 acres, Lost Lake is located almost directly between Egg Harbor and Jacksonport, sitting southeast of the Egg Harbor Fun Park. It is 5-feet deep at its maximum. The bottom is 95% muck and 5% gravel.

Because Lost Lake is a seepage lake, it gets its water from runoff and precipitation. It is part of a watershed with Logan Creek and Clark Lake. Lost Lake is landlocked and currently has no public access points.

LITTLE LAKE The smallest lake in Door County at 65

acres, Little Lake is located within 250 feet of Lake Michigan on the northwest side of Washington Island. The area was once home to a village of Native Americans and has a burial ground. Artifacts as old as 3000 years have been found in the area. Little Lake was created thousands of years ago and is currently only 3-feet above Lake Michigan's water level. The northern end of the lake is home to calcareous-loving plants such as buckbean, marsh bellflower, and marsh cinquefoil. It is surrounded by white cedar and hemlock. It is also a nesting habitat for many migratory birds such as the red-shouldered hawk and black-throated blue warbler.

Imagine yourself poised with your favorite driver in hand. As you tee off, a pristine fairway bordered by calm, blue water and lush, emerald green trees unfolds before you. The air is fresh, the sun is shining, and your vacation couldn't get any better. In Door County golf is more than just a sport. It's an adventure complete with scenic views and wildlife encounters from red fox and turkeys to trophy bucks and spotted newborn fawns. Each year, visitors gravitate to Door County for a one-of-a-kind golfing experience.

Choose from 11 well-manicured, scenic golf courses that range from family friendly 9-hole courses to challenging 18 or 36-hole championship courses. Bring your clubs or rent them on-site. Get yourself into the swing of things on the practice range and putting green before heading out. If you're looking to improve your game, take lessons with a seasoned golf pro. If you plan on coming during a busy season, call ahead and schedule a tee time to ensure a time that suits your vacation schedule. Regardless of age or level of experience, Door County is an ideal location to enjoy one of time's most beloved outdoor sports.

By combining a golfing excursion with a variety of lodging accommodations, fine-dining, live theater, shopping and more, you're sure to have the experience of a lifetime. Book your getaway today, and let the countdown to vacation begin!

Wisconsin's Scenic Byway

The Door County Coastal Byway (DCCB) (Hwy, 42/57), a Wisconsin Scenic Byway, stretches over 66 miles, beginning just north of Sturgeon Bay, northward to the ferry dock at Northport, and then south through Jacksonport back to Sturgeon Bay.

DoorCountyCoastalByway.com

In cooperation with the Wisconsin Historical Society, Door County is establishing a Maritime Trail, providing divers and land-lubbers another taste of the Peninsula's remarkable maritime heritage.

Over 200 shipwrecks lie in the waters surrounding Door County and have attracted divers for years. The cold, fresh water preserves the wrecks and provides divers an opportunity to view these historic vessels.

> For more information on individual shipwrecks, visit www.maritimetrails.org.

The Wonder That is the Night Sky By Brian Kelsey

Door County is home to many remarkable natural features but none as vast and encompassing as the night sky. It is something many locals take for granted as we are blessed with limited to no light pollution in our communities and countryside year 'round, but for many visitors, this is their one and only time to see the beauty that envelops our county from shore to shore.

On clear evenings as the sun sets over the bay the celestial objects above us prepare to take the stage. Depending on the time of year one may witness Venus and Jupiter rise from the horizon to take their place in the sky and compete with the moon. Or one may notice the distinct red hue of Mars set against the deepest of blacks that is the universe. Constellations many have only heard of become obvious as their shapes punch holes in the darkness and stand tall amongst one another. And if one looks closer and puts the entire night sky into perspective, they will be rewarded with a view of the Milky Way itself. Nothing is as awe-inspiring as when one realizes that they are looking out from our tiny spot in the universe into our home galaxy. It is breathtaking.

In addition to stars and planets, one may easily spot man-made celestial objects such as satellites and the International Space Station in the Door County sky. These objects vary in speed and luminosity as they pass overhead but do so with such grace and effortlessness that one could easily forget their man-made purpose.

Door County's natural dark sky also enables locals and visitors alike the opportunity to view (conditions and time of year permitting) such natural phenomena as the Northern Lights and meteor showers (Leonids, Perseids, etc.). Nothing quite compares to these "main event" showcases. When the Northern Lights are dancing in the sky it is simply mesmerizing...as if you are watching the brush strokes of Mother Nature's masterpiece being unfolded in front of you.

Load your smartphone with night sky and Northern Lights apps before you arrive so that you may better identify what you are viewing and when such phenomena will occur. Remember to look up...there is so much to see.

EYES ON THE SKY: BIRDING IN DOOR COUNTY

WHERE AND WHEN

The first migratory birds start to come back to Door County by mid-March. This includes sandhill cranes, larks, killdeer and redwings.

By mid-April waterfowl come back to the county. As May comes around migrant birds and shorebirds start to fly in from Central and South America. Year-round birds include turkeys, pheasants, cardinals and crows.

Pileated woodpeckers can be seen in places like Potawatomi State Park or Peninsula State Park, amongst lush forests.

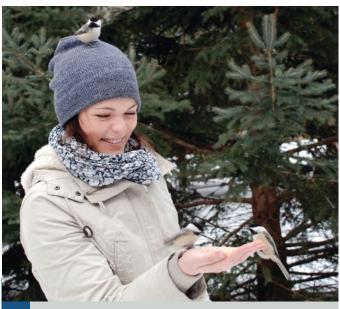

Shivering Sands, a Nature Conservancy preserve on Glidden Drive, provides birders an opportunity to see over 100 bird species.

One of the best times to go out birding is on a day following 24 hours of strong winds coming out of the south. Morning sunshine encourages birds to do their thing, making your chances of spotting one increase.

BALD EAGLES AND SNOWY OWLS

The Bald Eagle, once listed on the Endangered Species List, has made a comeback in Door County. Eagles will often be spotted seeking prey along the shorelines.

Snowy Owls have also been spotted in Door County. It's not entirely uncommon to catch a glimpse of these rare birds perched in prominent locations.

There are many places that offer different birding opportunities and activities that you can be involved in:

- Door County State Parks
- The Ridges Sanctuary
- · Open Door Bird Sanctuary
- The Clearing Folk School
- Crossroads at Big Creek
- Washington Island Nature Center
- Door County Land Trust
- Door Islands Bird Festival

BIRDING ACTIVITIES

Painters, potters, sculptors, craftsmen, and weavers reflect and enhance the natural wonders of Door County. Sprinkled through the towns and along the back roads, more than one hundred galleries, studios, and exhibits offer the opportunity to experience original works of stunning diversity. Meet the artists at work, watch the process unfold, and immerse yourself in one of the country's most vibrant art scenes.

Demonstrations also take place at various local events including fine art and craft fairs, the FFA Alumni Dairy Breakfast, Valmy Thresheree, Wooden Boat Festival, Festival of the Arts, Door County Festival of Fine Arts, Plein Air Festival and many more.

After you catch one of the county's famous sunsets, keep that light burning into the night. Whether you're catching a local band, a seat at a theater, a late-night meal or just meeting the locals at a local bar or tavern, the fun doesn't end when the sun goes down.

The bars, taverns, restaurants and performing arts centers throughout the county have something to offer almost every night. Break out your dancing shoes, check out one of the free outdoor concerts or see classical music virtuosos at one of the county's many music venues.

In Door County, you'll find a different take on the "club" scene. Try locally brewed craft beer, enjoy craft cocktails, a classic old fashioned, or just kick back with the locals over a cold one.

You'll find classic taverns in each village, many of which have stayed in the same family for generations. Stories ooze out of the walls at these local haunts, and you may find that they become your new favorite corner bar - even if that corner is hours away from your home.

These classics are now accentuated by a burgeoning al fresco dining and drinking scene. From Southern Door to Washington Island you can find restaurants and bars that offer fun outside areas where you can take advantage of our air-conditioned playground while enjoying a meal and your favorite beverage.

From the comedies and tragedies of Shakespeare to the comedies and tragedies of local and regional playwrights, Door County offers incredible live stage performances. Check out afternoon, evening and night shows in theaters on the water, in repurposed movie houses, in the open air of the park, and stateof-the-art venues.

Community Concerts

The summer series of 'Concerts in the Park' provides a delightful opportunity to spend the afternoon or evening taking in a medley of the best things about Door County. The free concerts often offer a water view with tunes that vary from country to rock, original music to covers of your favorite songs.

WINERIES

Door County has long been known for its excellent fruit wines, but did you know that local wineries also produce a wide variety of reds, whites, and ports that stack up with the best wines in the Vinophiles will find days of tasting at the wineries of Door County, with seven now dotting the peninsula and more in the planning stages. The best way to see them all is by following the Door County Wine Trail or taking a trolley winery tour. You can also just drop in and taste at most wineries throughout the year. Bring your palate and be ready to be surprised by what Door County's winemakers have to offer.

CIDER HOUSE

Island Orchard Cider offers tastings at its Ellison Bay tasting room, where they make cider from apples plucked from an orchard on Washington Island.

The craft beer scene continues to grow in Door County. Door County Brewing Co. and Music Hall in Baileys Harbor boasts a music hall, taproom and beer garden in the center of town.

In Egg Harbor, Door County's original brewpub, tragically burned down in 2017, but Shipwrecked Brew Pub rose from the ashes in 2018 with a new building and new look in the same great location. Just down the road, new addition One Barrel Brewing opened in 2019 featuring a taproom and an outdoor multi-tiered beer garden. Also new in 2019, Bridge Up Brewing Company in Sturgeon Bay is located right downstairs from Sonny's Pizzeria, brewing in small batches using locally sourced ingredients.

DISTILLERIES

For those who prefer craft spirits, you can now find a variety produced right here in Door County. Door County Distillery offers handcrafted whiskey, cherry vodka, and gin. Visit the Carlsville facility and view the production area below from the beautiful bridged foyer.

A few minutes up the road in Egg Harbor a new artist is at work crafting spirits. Chris Roedl opened Hatch Distilling Co. in the village in 2018, where he offers cocktails made with organic grains and honey.

Door County is unique in that it offers a close proximity to nature and our shorelines wherever you go, no matter the season. Experiences like watching the sunrise over the dunes or taking a fall hike through one of our five state parks offers an unforgettable moment to share and to treasure.

In order to share this beauty with generations to come, we must do our part. That is why the mission statement of Destination Door County is to promote not just tourism, but sustainable tourism. Launched in 2006, Travel Green Wisconsin is an initiative which helps us do that by promoting smart, environmentally friendly businesses. Travel Green businesses have made a commitment to continuously improve operations in order to reduce their social and environmental impact. We applaud these businesses as we work to protect Door County today and in the future.

At Destination Door County, we also continue to promote sustainable tourism with our two hook-up electric vehicle charging station and bicycle self-service station, located at our Welcome Center in Sturgeon Bay. Both are available 24 hours a day. The bicycle self-service station has tools for basic bike maintenance and inflating tires. When you're finished at the service station make sure to stop inside the Welcome Center to fill your water bottle and get your bicycle map.

Other communities and businesses in Door County also offer electric vehicle charging stations. They can be found in Sturgeon Bay, Ephraim, Baileys Harbor, Egg Harbor, Fish Creek, Sister Bay and Ellison Bay. For the most current information and our up-to-date listing of additional charging stations in Door County, visit www.DoorCounty. com/discover/travel-green. Together we can reduce our environmental impact to protect the treasure that is Door County.

See the Fall Color From These Favorite Locations

In Door County there is hardly a bad location to spot all the beauty the county has to offer, but there are a few locations that would compete for the best place to see the fall color. Here are five of our favorite fall color lookouts:

OLD BALDY, WHITEFISH DUNES STATE PARK

Old Baldy is the tallest sand dune in Whitefish Dunes State Park, and it's also rather sandy (or bald!) on top. From the main park entrance take the Red Trail for a 2.8 mile round trip hike that takes you by the Old Baldy lookout. From there you can spot the corner of Clark Lake to the northwest, Lake Michigan to the east and plenty of stunning treetops in between.

ELLISON BAY BLUFF COUNTY PARK

See the golden yellow and orange leaves from below as you hike along one of the many trails within the 174-acre park. The trails through the top of the bluff include a variety of trees such as sugar maple, white ash, red oak, birch and beech trees. Or, see the color from the top of a 100-ft limestone bluff where the observation deck leads you safely to a spectacular view of the water and surrounding forest.

OLD SKI HILL OVERLOOK, POTAWATOMI STATE PARK

Although the lookout tower at the park has been permanently closed, there are still gorgeous views to be had. The best option to find a colorful canopy view in the park is at the top of the Old Ski Hill. To get there, hike the Tower Trail (a 3.6 mile loop from the nature center) or drive to it via N. Norway Road. The view is indeed atop an old ski hill, giving you a clear view over the treetops.

With the Potawatomi State Park and Peninsula State Park towers currently closed, this is the only open observation tower in the county. Once on Washington Island, you will find the park a short drive from the ferry dock. You will climb 186 steps of stairs up the "mountain" of a hill and then, at the top, climb the tower to find yourself with a beautiful view overlooking the island. The rolling landscape is colorful and serene in the fall season and you can also spot the "death's door" water passageway.

CANA ISLAND LIGHTHOUSE

Cana Island is a small island located just north of Baileys Harbor. On that small 8.7 acre island you will find the Cana Island Lighthouse which was first operated in 1869. Standing a total of 89 feet tall, this lighthouse offers beautiful 360 degree views after you climb the 97-step spiral staircase. Admission is required to tour and climb to the top, but the view is priceless — especially in the fall.

Some people go to the Viking Grill for its great food and an old-fashioned diner experience. Others go for the original Door County fish boil.

This landmark restaurant is where locals and visitors go when only comfort food will do.

Located in beautiful Ellison Bay, the Viking Grill brings to mind the heyday of the classic diner. It's the kind of place for folks who need a good, solid meal at a reasonable price.

Fish boils are an integral part of Door County tradition and have been one of the area's most alluring tourist attractions for more than 70 years. Fish boils function today just about he same way they did 100 years ago: locally caught whitefish is boiled on an open fire, in an outdoor community-style kitchen. The fish, potatoes (and sometimes onions, depending on the recipe) are cooked to perfection. Although you can find a fish boil every day, not everyone boils every day, so be sure to call ahead for reservations and boil times.

- Find a list of cherry blossom-lined highways and byways and chart your course for a scenic drive. When studying the maps and routes, be sure to search for nearby stops, such as shops, restaurants, or natural lookout points.
- Plan out your cherry stops by researching country stores, markets, and pick-your-own farms.
- If flowers are more your tune, plan a hike to a state park or a nature preserve, and don't forget the camera.

STAGE 1- BUDDING

As early as mid-April, the cherries will-slowly, carefullybegin to bloom. Buds in shades of green and white will emerge and, for the next few weeks, mature and grow. Florets, eventually puffy and floppy, will grow from the plant's interior, indicating things are moving along smoothly.

STAGE 2 - BLOSSOMING

Once mid-May rolls around and the blossoms are in full bloom, it's primetime!

Door County's 2,500 acres of cherry orchards and 500 acres of apple orchards will be blanketed in white and pink, and the earliest-arriving wildflowers will bring their greens, yellows, and baby blues as well. A just-perceptible cherry aroma has been known to waft through the air during this time.

Act fast though—the full-bloom stage usually only lasts about two weeks, with apple blossoms' peak time arriving about a week later.

Agriculture has played an important role in Door County's economy since the 1800s. More specifically, Door County is home to many family owned and operated orchards that produce mainly cherries and apples, as well as family farms that focus on dairy products.

The cherry industry is a staple of Door County and has a long and interesting history. At one point, Door County was annually harvesting 10 percent of all cherries grown in the country!

While maybe not as noticed as the cherry, Door County falls bring about a variety of delicious apples. Not only can you buy apples but also apple cider, apple cider doughnuts, applesauce and more. It's like Door County's own pumpkin spice craze!

With the cherry and apple orchards and the farm fields and dairy products being locally sourced and produced in Door County, visitors will find plenty of orchards and farms to visit, dishes to taste, and products to take home

Another way to experience local agriculture is through farmers markets. Many farmers and growers will bring their fresh produce and homemade products to sell at weekly farmers markets held in various communities.

If you keep your eyes peeled you can also find roadside sellers. As you drive from place to place see if you can spot a sign advertising fresh produce. They might take you off the beaten path but the flavor is well worth it.

UNIQUE FOODS

CHEESE CURDS

Cheese curds are served two different ways: fresh and fried. Fresh Wisconsin Cheese Curds are nicknamed "squeaky cheese curds." The fresher they are, the more they squeak on your teeth. Cheese curds can also be fried. Battered or breaded, usually dealer's choice and always up for debate, then dropped in the fryer until golden brown and delicious.

OLD FASHIONED

Most bartenders, when making one from scratch, will use an orange slice, maraschino cherries. a little grenadine, and one sugar cube muddled in a glass, then add a couple dashes of bitters. A true Wisconsin Old Fashioned is made with brandy, then washed with either Sprite (sweet) or Squirt (sour). Garnishes vary from maraschino cherries, orange slices, mushrooms, and more.

BOOYAH

Typically a chickenbased soup, similar to chicken noodle soup with carrots, peas. onions, and potatoes. Historically, the Belgian immigrants would make this during Belgian celebrations, after church service, and after harvest season. Booyah is a hearty soup with a clear broth and reddish-white in color.

BELGIAN TRIPPE (sometimes spelled tripe)

Spiced cabbage and pork mixture made into sausage. This Belgian sausage is similar to a German bratwurst or hot Italian sausage.

BELGIAN PIE

A sweet yeast pastry, with a fruit or rice pudding filling, with a sweet cheese topping. Varieties include cherry, raisin, apple and prune. Passed down through generations, it was traditionally served at Kermis (church festivals).

CHERRY STUFFED FRENCH TOAST

Made popular by one of Door County's most famous restaurants, the White Gull Inn. It's diagonally sliced French toast with pockets of sweet cream cheese filling, topped with Door County cherries, and served with a side of warm Door County maple syrup.

LAWYER: also known as Burbot, Eelpout, and Mud Shark

This fish got a bad rap for being a bottom feeding fish found in the waters surrounding Door County. In recent years, it has become known as "poor man's lobster" because of its similar taste and texture. It's prepared every which way and enjoyed by many.

BITTERS

Typically served in a Wisconsin Old Fashioned. Angostura Bitters was once used as a cure-all. During prohibition, only a "pharmacist" could prescribe it. Some bartenders went as far as getting a pharmacist license so they could keep serving.

WHITEFISH/ FISH BOILS

Whitefish is a light flaky fish found in the waters of Door County. Whitefish is traditionally used in a Door County Fish Boil. The tradition of the Fish Boil started with early Scandinavian settlers. They would boil the fish in a kettle over an open wood flame. The Whitefish is boiled with potatoes and onions. Once the brine from the fish has floated to the top, kerosene is thrown on the fire to create the "boil over" which clears the brine off the top of the water. The meal is served with drawn butter and followed with a slice of Door County Cherry pie.

There is no shortage of one-of-a-kind shopping opportunities in Door County. The peninsula and Washington Island are home to art and jewelry galleries galore, home goods and antique shops to match any decor style, and clothing boutiques to dress you for every season of life.

Since a varied array of talented artists and makers call Door County home, it is no wonder that visitors come to seek specially crafted gifts and keepsakes. Pottery, paintings, jewelry and more await around every corner. Exploring the many galleries and stores of the county is both as pleasing to the eye as it is a treasured shopping trip.

As a prime location for many silent sports, outdoor recreation shops are available to serve locals and visitors alike who participate in these adventurous activities. Whether you prefer yoga, cycling, hiking, kayaking, paddle boarding, running or camping, there are purveyors ready to help you round out your gear and keep you prepared for any adventure.

Foodies interested in shopping for food-related goodies are in luck. The culinary community has plenty of seasonal and year-round favorites to offer. Summer brings lots of local cherry and fruit items; fall brings apples, sweet corn and pumpkin specialties; and all year round you'll find great local coffee, beer, cheese, meats, lavender products and more.

Door County is a bona fide shopping destination, and it's easy to figure out why. With so many one-of-a-kind shopping venues to choose from, "shop 'til you drop" takes on a whole new dimension.

The variety is truly mind boggling, whether you're seriously searching for that special treasure, or embarking on some serious browsing. This diverse and distinctive array of retail stores makes Door County a shopper's paradise.

BUY GIFT CERTIFICATES NOW AT Store.DoorCounty.com or 800-52-RELAX (73529)

The Door County Gift Certificate is a perfect way to let your friends and family explore the natural beauty and excitement of a place like nowhere else. Available in denominations of $10, $25 and $50 - and honored at hundreds of local businesses.

Vacationing with kids can be expensive. In Door County, it doesn't have to be. Here are seven great adventures and activities to take the kids on that won't break the bank, but will create lifelong memories.

OUTDOOR EXPLORATION - There are an abundance of nature preserves and exciting hikes that will bring the whole family back to the roots of nature. The peninsula's 19 county parks offer a variety of experiences from crashing waves on limestone cliffs at Cave Point County Park to picturesque views of Lake Michigan and beyond. Many local nature preserves also open their trails up to the public at no charge.

A DAY AT THE BEACH - Some of the best beaches in Wisconsin are free and open to the public, many of which offer amenities such as restrooms and piers. Egg Harbor's sprawling sand beach is just a short walk from downtown, while Sister Bay's beach and amphitheater are in the heart of downtown.

CONCERTS IN THE PARK - Grab a blanket and some snacks and enjoy some of the best musicians in the region as they play free concerts at many of the outdoor music venues in the county, such as the Peg Egan Performing Arts Center, Sister Bay Waterfront Park Pavilion, and Martin Park in Sturgeon Bay.

FISHING - Fish some of the best spots in the state and land a lunker right from the shore at Door County's premier fishing locales. Southern Door County is best known for its fishing culture, but also check out Baileys Harbor or George K. Pinney County Park near Sturgeon Bay.

GEOCACHING - Nothing is better than watching your kids tromp through the forest on a treasure hunt. Door County's abundant public outdoor spaces make it a hot spot for geocaching. There are plenty to find on Washington Island, and don't forget to check out Mountain Park Lookout Tower and the Stavkirke while you're there.

SHIPS OF STURGEON BAY - Walk along Sturgeon Bay's waterfront and get a closeup view of the historic tugboats tied to the pier. Then look across the canal and view 1000-foot tankers in the shipyard of Bay Shipbuilding. Many museums in the area offer free admission to learn more about the region's renowned shipbuilding history.

FESTIVALS - Many of Door County's biggest events are free and open to the public. From parades to live music, some even offer games and activities for kids free of charge. There are festivals taking place throughout the year so check out the schedule to plan your family weekend.

MAKE ART.

Peninsula School of Art, Hands-on Art Studio and Door County Candle Company are amazing locations to create with your children. Take an art class at the school of art, or let your creativity run wild at Hands On and paint ceramic mugs, tiles, or other items.

HEAD TO THE KRESS PAVILION IN EGG HARBOR.

This magnificent new building constructed in 2018 has a great selection of kids' games and books and a special room just for young children. Upstairs, kids can explore the great room with views of Egg Harbor and the orchards up the hill.

EXPERIENCE THE OUTDOORS INDOORS.

Travel to the Nature Center in Peninsula State Park to make crafts and plan a hike using their awesome light-up map. Be sure to ask about the scavenger hunt as well.

SPOIL YOURSELF.

Use the scenic back roads of the county as you crisscross from town to town visiting candy and ice-cream shops, local restaurants and shopping.

TAKE A TROLLEY RIDE.

Choose from the available tour options, see the county, learn something unique, and stay dry.

GO BOWLING!

The Sister Bay Bowl offers a classic midwestern experience in a throwback atmosphere. Learn to score your own game in an alley that dates to the 1950s and remains one of the most popular destinations in the county.

SVEN'S BLUFF

Peninsula State Park, Fish Creek

From the lookout you can see that the trees grow almost right up to the waterline, which is common in many places in Door County. The trees are also growing at a steep incline. This is a great location to catch a Door County sunset and check out the stretch of shoreline that travels into Ephraim.

DOOR BLUFF HEADLANDS

12900 Door Bluff Park Rd, Gills Rock

Follow along the unmarked trail carefully and come upon breaks in the trees that let you see the most northern view you can get on the Green Bay side of the Peninsula. There is a bald outcropping that will give you an unobstructed view of the Bay as well as the shoreline below. Tread carefully though; there is no guard rail. Make your way down to the water below and stand next to the towering bluffs that make up a lot of the Door County shoreline. Note: In late winter and early spring you can sometimes find mesmerizing ice shoves stacked up on these very same bluffs.

ELLISON BAY BLUFF

Ellison Bluff State Natural Area, Ellison Bay

Take a walk down the wooden stairs and enjoy the view from the observation deck or take advantage of the wooden catwalk that extends over the edge of the bluff. See the shoreline below and the limestone cliffs from a new perspective. Another great location to catch a sunset.

inland lakes in between—the Door County shoreline is so diverse you'll want to explore every inch of it! Trek to these local spots for some of the most spectacular views you'll find this side of the escarpment.

The Island Stavkirke and Boynton Chapel, Townline Rd, Washington Island and 7590 Boynton Lane, Baileys Harbor.

Both of these churches were built relatively recently (Boynton in 1939-47 and The Island Stavkirke 1991-1995), but they both represent the presence of the Scandinavian history in the county. They were each created in the Stavkirke tradition, which was a popular style of architecture in Norway in the late 12th century.

Belgian Heritage Center, 1255 County DK, Brussels

While Scandinavian settlers were inhabiting the northern part of the peninsula, Belgians laid claim in the southern portion of the county. Explore exhibits that highlight aspects of Belgian history in Door County, or take in a traditional Belgian Kermiss that features live music, drinks, and traditional Belgian food like pies, trippe, booyah, and more.

Historic Island Dairy, 1309 Range Line Rd, Washington Island

Now used as an event space, museum, art space, and featuring a lavender farm, Island Dairy used to be the center of Washington Island's dairy business. Throughout its life on the Island it was a hub for business growth. In 2008, new owners bought it and resurrected it as an incubator for business growth on the island.

Plum Island and Lighthouse, Plum Island, Death's Door Passage, Lake Michigan

Plum Island officially opened for visitors in June 2017 after years of neglect. A boat dock was constructed on the north side of the island, allowing visitors to check out the lighthouse that was built in 1896 and has been undergoing renovations since 2013, with the help of the Friends of Plum and Pilot Islands.

Pioneer Schoolhouse, 9998 Moravia St, Ephraim

Built in 1880, the Pioneer Schoolhouse was a one-room school that catered to grades 1-8. As the number of students increased, the school was closed and a new one was built. The building that stands today is double the size of what the original building was, but it was preserved and turned into a museum with the help of the Ephraim Historical Foundation.

All these locations have ties to the history of Door County and the people that inhabited it. They are only a small sample of historical locations in the county.

Door County's history can be seen in the county not only through physical buildings but through the actions, industries, and traditions that thrive today.

Water defines life in Northeast Wisconsin and Door County, with Lake Michigan outlining the state's eastern shoreline and the Door Peninsula creating the Bay of Green Bay. Because of that, shipbuilding took root and grew in areas like Sturgeon Bay nearly 200 years ago. The shipbuilding industry has been a prominent part of Door County's history and even today accounts for the largest number of jobs in the area.

The history of shipbuilding in Door County includes iconic Sturgeon Bay shipbuilder names like Leathem D. Smith Shipbuilding, Sturgeon Bay Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, Peterson Builders and Palmer Johnson. Ship builders like Palmer Johnson and Bay Shipbuilding developed from small yards into larger, thriving industries. Roen Salvage, Marine Travelift and other companies all derive their livelihood on or because of the water.

Area companies have built wartime ships for World War II, some of today's newest U.S. Navy vessels, commercial fishing vessels, the Staten Island Ferry, world-class luxury yachts, and provides repairs and maintenance for Great Lakes freighters. The self-unloading vessel and container shipping, which revolutionized the shipping industry around the world, were invented in Sturgeon Bay. The concept of the world's first mobile boat hoist also was designed in Sturgeon Bay.

The amazing accomplishments of Sturgeon Bay shipbuilders spans eras and styles: everything from handmade Indian dugouts and birch bark canoes to multimillion-dollar naval vessels and luxury yachts that were all built in the area by dedicated craftsmen, welders and entrepreneurs who put their brawn and brains to work to make Sturgeon Bay the shipbuilding capital of the Great Lakes.

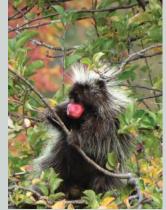

During the shipbuilding boom of the WWII-era, Door County companies produced submarine chasers, patrol craft and remarkable wooden-hulled minesweepers. At their 1940s peak, Sturgeon Bay shipyards were launching an average of one vessel every week.

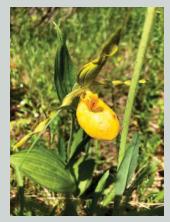

work of Fincantieri Bay Shipbuilding, the county's largest employer, building and maintaining the Great Lakes fleet. Tracing its history in Sturgeon Bay back to 1918, Fincantieri Bay Shipbuilding (FBS) is an industry leader in the construction and repair of large ships. The FBS portfolio includes OPA 90-compliant vessels, dredges and dredging support equipment, and offshore support vessels. On the repair side, FBS is expert at managing critical deadlines in the repair and sustainment of the Great Lakes Winter Fleet.

Although we no longer rely on the Bays and Lake to travel to and from Door County, the waters surrounding the Peninsula continue to fuel our economy. We are all stewards of this beautiful, dynamic place—the Door Peninsula—which is inextricably defined by water. Throughout time, water has carved out this landscape, inspired exploration and ingenuity, and defined our connections to the region and the broader world.

Sandhill Crane Colt

Once introduced to Door County, it doesn't take long to know, almost in one's bones, that it is a special place. The European settlers who landed in Ephraim sensed it. Those who live here know it. Even the casual weekend visitor guickly realizes it. Whether it's a trillium-strewn forest floor or the early morning mist rising from Kangaroo Lake, some part of Door County's beauty seeps into the soul and takes hold.

What is intuitively apparent—that Door County is a place like no other is, in fact, backed up by science. With more miles of shoreline and more rare plants and animals than any other county in Wisconsin, Door County is an ecologically diverse treasure. Two major factors contribute to this diversity-limestone dolomite bedrock and the cooling effects of Lake Michigan: land and water. The story of how these factors influence Door County began millions of years ago, thousands of miles away.

If you prefer to sleep under the stars with a blazing campfire nearby, Door County has a wide variety of options just for you. From remote, rustic camping to full amenities and log cabin rentals, find your site in the county's quiet forests.

Before you fire up that campfire, remember that it's always best to get your firewood locally to prevent the spread of disease. If you're camping in a state park, any firewood must be cut within ten miles of that park. State parks and private campgrounds typically sell bundles of firewood at their offices. Otherwise, many locals sell firewood in roadside stands.

There are a few sites that offer the most adventurous carrying your gear with you. Newport and Rock Island

Load up the SUV with the kids, tents, sleeping bags and all of the s'mores fixings and set off for state park or private campgrounds that dot the entire county. Rates vary depending on the amenities offered at the park. Standard campgrounds can include as little as a bathroom building and as much as a pool, game room and basketball courts.

Take advantage of all that a relaxing Door County great outdoors. Bring your RV or your big rig in tow and stay at one of many luxurious camping resorts that have everything you need as a home base for your exploration of the county

Some campgrounds, including many in the state parks, provide campsites throughout the winter months. If you're looking for bundled up, try winter camping. After all, the only thing better than a campfire is a campfire during a snowfall.

GROUPS & SPECIAL OCCASIONS

GROUP TRAVEL

Door County is one of the Midwest's top group tour destinations, with a wide selection of activities, tours and sightseeing opportunities. Spring kicks off the group travel season with garden tours and spring events. Summer follows with festivals and renowned theater performances as well as historic lighthouse and winery tours. Fall lures tourists with brilliant color displays, orchard and farm markets and winery tours. With over 100 locations providing a blend of group friendly accommodations, recreation, dining, tours and more - a unique and memorable experience will be had, and shared, by all.

Destination Door County proudly provides assistance to tour operators and planners including: meet and greet service, itinerary planning assistance, hotel rate searches, stepon guides, sample itineraries, visitor guide mailings, promotional videos and more.

WEDDINGS

Door County is a dream wedding destination. With picture-perfect settings around every corner, there's no better place to say "I Do". Tie the knot over a scenic bluff, walk down an aisle made of sand or say your vows as you sail into the setting sun. It's your wedding day and it's filled with even more romance and splendor than you imagined.

MEETINGS

Door County is an inspiring and energetic place for hosting your next meeting, retreat or event. With over 40 unique meeting venues and plenty of activities including outdoor recreation, performing arts, historic and cultural sites, and unique events and festivals, there's an almost-endless list of activities to keep attendees busy once the meeting lets out.

REUNIONS

Imagine a class reunion that begins with a kayak adventure at sunrise. A family reunion topped off with a legendary Door County fish boil. A group of your girlfriends golfing some of the prettiest courses in the Midwest. Or, the company of your comrades aboard a fishing charter, reliving the good ol' days and spinning new tales.
